ABSTRACT

The abstract is a concise, one to three sentence statement of the thesis problem, a brief description consisting of no more than a few sentences describing the research method or design, and a report of the major findings and conclusions.

The abstract submitted online at the time of thesis submission should be the same as the abstract inside the thesis. ProQuest continues to publish print indexes that have maximum abstract lengths of 150 words for Masters and 350 words for PhDs. Abstracts exceeding these limits will be truncated in the print indexes so it may be wise to work within those word limits in most cases.

Dedication Page: A dedication page is optional and not frequently included in a thesis. However, occasionally the thesis writer wants to dedicate the document to a professional colleague, friend, or relative. A dedication typically expresses gratitude for someone's support. If a dedication page is included, it is placed at the end of the front matter section, following the acknowledgments. Typically, a dedication page has no title, it simply states, e.g., "For my father." Roman numeral page numbering continues on the dedication page.

The "figure" environment should be used for figures. One or more images can be placed within a figure. If your figure contains third-party material, you must clearly identify it as such, as shown in the example below. Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetuer adipiscing

Your figures should contain a caption which describes the figure to the reader. Figure captions go below the figure. Your figures should also include a description suitable for screen readers, to assist the visually-challenged to better understand your work.

5.2 Tables

The "`minesthesis`" document class includes the "`booktabs`" package — https://ctan.org/pkg/booktabs — for preparing high-quality tables.

Because tables cannot be split across pages, the best placement for them is typically the top of the page nearest their initial cite. To ensure this proper "floating" placement of tables, use the environment table to enclose the table's contents and the table caption. The contents of the table itself must go in the tabular environment, to be aligned properly in rows and columns, with the desired horizontal and vertical rules. Again, detailed instructions on tabular material are found in the LaTeX User's Guide.

Immediately following this sentence is the point at which Table 5.1 is included in the input file; compare the placement of the table here with the table in the printed output of this document.

To set a wider table, which takes up the whole width of the page's live area, use the environment table to enclose the table's contents and the table caption. As with a single-column table, this wide table will "float" to a location deemed more desirable.

APPENDIX A

SUPPLEMENT DATA

Appendix material is information that is not essential to the text but that contributes to it.

Appendices are used to include information such as the following:

- Original data
- Long quotations
- Supporting legal decisions or laws
- Computer codes and programs
- Lithologic and petrographic descriptions
- Questionnaires
- Forms and documents
- Permissions to use copyrighted material
- Long tables

All Figuires and Tables in an Appendix need to be labeled with a number & a caption and need to be listed in either the List of Figures or List of Tables.

You may include long appendices as electronic attachments to your thesis. In either instance, appendices are listed in the table of contents.
